Dear Dick:

I have checked the employment record of [REDACTED] as you requested in your letter of 1 October.

During her service with us, [REDACTED] performed confidential secretarial work in several of our offices. Her supervisors have characterized her as being "cheerful, efficient, conscientious and punctual" and as possessing "intellectual capabilities beyond her secretarial status." We have no reason to doubt that she will do equally well for you in a similar capacity.

We were sorry to lose [REDACTED] and should be glad to consider her for re-employment.

Sincerely,

signed

Allen W. Dulles
Director
